Inauguration of ECIJA's new offices in El Salvador

ECIJA El Salvador celebrated the inauguration of its new corporate offices, consolidating the firm's leadership in the legal sector in that country. Ricardo Chacón, Managing Partner of ECIJA Mexico and Coordinator of ECIJA LATAM (NCAC), participated in this important event.

The event marked an important milestone for ECIJA and reaffirms the firm's commitment to innovation, strategic expansion, and driving growth in the region. The event was attended by partners from ECIJA Mexico (Ricardo Chacón), ECIJA Guatemala (Edson López), ECIJA Nicaragua (María Antonieta Fiallos), and ECIJA Colombia (Carlos Hugo Ramírez), as well as distinguished special guests, including the Minister of Economy, María Luisa Hayem, and the Minister of Education, José Mauricio Pineda, both officials in El Salvador.

During the ceremony, Alfredo Navas, managing partner of ECIJA El Salvador, highlighted the collaborative effort and forward-looking vision that inspires this new phase for ECIJA in El Salvador, focused on offering innovative legal solutions in areas such as corporate law, technology, data protection, and other key areas for the economic development of the country and the region.

At ECIJA Mexico, we celebrate this expansion as a strategic step to further boost our firm's international presence, strengthen our regional collaboration network, and continue offering excellent legal services to our clients in Latin America and the rest of the world.
